

Welcome Student!

Thank you for taking the time to explore this wonderful opportunity available to you on our campus. The Alpha Beta Gamma International Business Honor Society is the sole business honor society for accredited junior, community and technical two-year colleges. The society exists to recognize and reward academic excellence among business honor students and to recognize the contribution you make to our school and community.

ABG is a member of the Association of College Honor Societies, is a participating institute in the Association of Canadian Community College Affiliates Network, and an educational affiliate of the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC). ABG was founded in 1970, and currently has over 65,000 members.

Membership in the Chi Zeta chapter at Athens Technical College will provide an opportunity for you as an individual to be recognized for your scholastic achievements, while providing service opportunities to your community. We have several exciting community and school service projects coming up. I hope that you will take advantage of the opportunity to give back to our community, and have a wonderful time doing so!

Once you become a member of ABG, there is a wealth of outstanding benefits available to you. Most notably, there are a number of transfer scholarships to four-year schools around the country reserved especially for Alpha Beta Gamma members. Also available are opportunities to exchange ideas and communication with members from around the world via the ABG website. Our on-campus benefits include recognition as a member of an academic honor society, recognition of your achievements at the ATC Honors Day event each May, and your right to wear the royal blue honors stole to signify your achievements at graduation.

We hope that you will take this opportunity to learn more about ABG and ask any questions you may have about our organization.

Sincerely,

Wayne Martin
